Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 4/1/04.
- 2a) ☒ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☐ This action is non-final.

DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is responsive to communications: Amendment, filed on 9/2/03.

This action is made final.

2. Claims 1-35, and 38-41 are pending in this application. Claims 1, 14, 23, and 38 are independent claims. In the Amendment, filed on 9/2/03, claims 1-3, 7-11, 14-16, 20, 23-25, 29, and 38-40 are amended.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in-

(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or

(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

Claims 1-5, 7-13, 15-18, 20- 27, 29-35, and 38-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Foreman et al. (US 6,469, 711).

As per independent claim 1, Foreman et al. teaches a computerized method for displaying images comprising:

accessing a plurality of presentation images having inconsistent presentation attributes; (col 2, lines 14-30, col 8, lines 16-34);

arranging the presentation images according to at least one characteristic (col 2, lines 50- 64); and organizing the presentation images in a visual presentation, wherein organizing includes modifying the inconsistent presentation attributes of the plurality (col. 11, lines 60-67, col. 12, lines 1-1-15) of presentation images to have consistent presentation attributes (col 2, lines 5-10, col 8, lines 35-46).

As per claim 2, which is dependent on claim 1, Foreman et al. teaches the computerized method of claim 1 further comprising: selecting the characteristic from the group consisting of distance, perspective, magnification, and angle (col 7, lines 24-26). The examiner is inferring to the fact the sequence of shots that are selected is captured in the perspective of the recorder.

As per claim 3, which is dependent on claim 1, Foreman et al. teaches the computerized method of claim 1 wherein modifying the inconsistent presentation attributes of the plurality of presentation images includes modifying the inconsistent presentation attributes from the group consisting of a size, a color, and an exposure ((col. 11, lines 60-67, col. 12, lines 1-1-15).

As per claim 4, which is dependent on claim 1, Foreman et al. teaches the computerized method of claim 1 further comprising: accessing an address for a location (col 6, lines 18-53). It is inherent for the system to access the memory address where the video clips are stored.

Art Unit: 2174

As per claim 5, which is dependent on claim 1, Foreman et al. teaches the computerized method of claim 1 further comprising: accessing location coordinates for a location (col 6, lines 18-53).

As per claim 7, which is dependent on claim 1, Foreman et al. teaches the computerized method of claim 1 further comprising:

accessing additional information, wherein the additional information is selected by a computer user and affect the appearance of the visual presentation (col 11, lines 63-67, col 12, lines 1-6).

As per claim 8, which is dependent on claim 1, Foreman et al. teaches the computerized method of claim 1 wherein accessing the plurality of presentation images comprises:

uploading a plurality of presentation images from a client (col 6, lines 17- 54, col 8, lines 1-15, lines 35-47). It is inherent for a client to bring in a removable disk.

As per claim 9, which is dependent on claim 1, Foreman et al. teaches the computerized method of claim 1 wherein accessing a plurality of presentation images comprises:

loading the plurality of presentation images from a database (col 6, lines 17-54).

As per claim 10, which is dependent on claim 1, Foreman et al. teaches the computerized method of claim 1 wherein accessing a plurality of 2 presentation images comprises: uploading at least one presentation image from a client (col 6, lines 17-54); and loading at least one presentation image from a database (col 12, lines 27-38). It is inherent that the effects are a part of the original database.

Art Unit: 2174

As per claim 11, which is dependent on claim 1, Foreman et al. teaches the computerized method of claim 1 wherein accessing a plurality of presentation images comprises: loading at least one presentation image from a computer-readable medium (col 6, lines 17-54).

As per claim 12, which is dependent on claim 1, Foreman et al. teaches the computerized method of claim 1 further comprising:

 sending the visual presentation to a client (col 7, lines 30-35). It is inherent for the client to receive his/her product back in a form of a CD-ROM or through a computer network.

As per claim 13, which is dependent on claim 1, Foreman et al. teaches the computerized method of claim 1 further comprising:

 saving the visual presentation on a computer-readable medium (col 7, lines 30-35).

As per independent claim 14, it is rejected with same rationale as claim 1. (see rejection above)

As per claim 15, which is dependent on claim 14, it is of the same scope as claim 2. (see rejection above).

As per claim 16, which is dependent on claim 14, it is of the same scope as claim 3. (see rejection above).

As per claim 17, which is dependent on claim 14, it is of the same scope as claim 4. (see rejection above).

As per claim 18, which is dependent on claim 14, it is of the same scope as claim 5. (see rejection above).

Art Unit: 2174

As per claim 20, which is dependent on claim 14, it is of the same scope as claim 7. (see rejection above).

As per claim 21, which is dependent on claim 14, it is of the same scope as claim 12. (see rejection above).

As per claim 22, which is dependent on claim 14, it is of the same scope as claim 13. (see rejection above).

As per independent claim 23, it is rejected with same rationale as claim 1. (see rejection above)

As per claim 24, which is dependent on claim 23, it is of the same scope as claim 2. (see rejection above)

As per claim 25, which is dependent on claim 23, it is of the same scope as claim 3. (see rejection above)

As per claim 26, which is dependent on claim 23, it is of the same scope as claim 4. (see rejection above)

As per claim 27, which is dependent on claim 23, it is of the same scope as claim 5. (see rejection above).

As per claim 29, which is dependent on claim 23, it is of the same scope as claim 7. (see rejection above).

As per claim 30, which is dependent on claim 23, it is of the same scope as claim 8. (see rejection above).

As per claim 31, which is dependent on claim 23, it is of the same scope as claim 9. (see rejection above).

Art Unit: 2174

As per claim 32, which is dependent on claim 23, it is of the same scope as claim 10. (see rejection above).

As per claim 33, which is dependent on claim 23, it is of the same scope as claim 11. (see rejection above).

As per claim 34, which is dependent on claim 23, it is of the same scope as claim 12. (see rejection above).

As per claim 35, which is dependent on claim 23, it is of the same scope as claim 13. (see rejection above).

As per claim 38. it is rejected with same rationale as claim 1. (see rejection above)

As per claim 39, which is dependent on claim 38, it is of the same scope as claim 2. (see rejection above).

As per claim 40, which is dependent on claim 38, it is of the same scope as claim 3. (see rejection above).

Claim Rejections – 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 6, 19, 28 and 41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Foreman et al. (US 6,469, 711) in view of Danial (US 5,940,806)

As per claim 6, Foreman et al teaches the computerized method of claim 1. However Foreman et al. doesn't teach further comprising: receiving compensation from a client. Danial teaches a method comprising: receiving compensation from a client (col 11, lines 10-30). It would have been obvious to an artisan at the time of the invention to include Danial's teaching with Foreman et al.'s method in order to provide sufficient cost for shopping and other cost relating to the service.

As per claim 19, which is dependent on claim 14, it is of the same scope as claim 6. (see rejection above)

As per claim 28, which is dependent on claim 23, it is of the same scope as claim 6. (see rejection above)

As per claim 41, which is dependent on claim 38, it is of the same scope as claim 6. (see rejection above)

Response to Argument

Applicant's arguments filed on 9/2/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant's arguments include the following:

A) Foreman doesn't not teach or disclose organizing a plurality of presentation images in a visual presentation ^{including} ~~includes~~ modifying inconsistent presentation attributes. LY

Examiner disagrees.

A) Foreman allows the user to trim the edges of the transitional frames in order to have a smooth and consistent presentation (col. 11, lines 60-68, col. 12, lines 1-10)

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
